

STEAM

made easy

STEAM is a new focus area for many schools, and OfficeMax is here to help.

STEAM is an educational approach which integrates learning across the disciplines of Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Mathematics via 'interdependent' learning units based on real-world applications.

Whether you're rolling out the Digital Technologies curriculum across your school, implementing a STEAM approach into your lessons, creating a makerspace or setting up a Coding or Robotics Club – we can source the right products for your requirements.

Visit officemax.co.nz/STEAM or contact your Education Account Manager to find out more.

OfficeMax invests in learning

OfficeMax believes all Kiwi kids should have the same opportunities at school. Max e-Grants helps kids go on school camp, wear the same uniform as their friends and have access to resources to help achieve their goals.

OfficeMax are also proud to be official sponsors of the 0800 What's Up counselling helpline and web-chat service for children and teenagers.

To assist educators and schools we provide sponsorship and business partnerships to many different organisations which help to provide information and training.
